We are posting these flyers in the general vicinity of Redbeard Brewing, fine purveyor of quality libations in the Wharf District of Historic Staunton, Virginia. Regular patrons of Staunton's first downtown brewery since Prohibition have reported sightings of the elusive individual pictured above, sometimes affectionately known as "Danimal."

In addition to enjoying quality beverages, playing video games, and sporting sexy facial hair, Dan plays guitar and sings.

When he joins up with JeffMo and The Roz (from Drägön Wägön), you can expect vocal harmonies galore, Blind Peach originals, cover versions of classic rock and folk songs, and a little something they call 1234567...
